Exercise Sheet 7.2.3b

Mime Exercise: "This Life and the Next"

The sheet may be displayed by the teacher (for all students to see) or copied and handed out to student groups.

Please get into groups of three.

Now please make up a mime on between 1 and 2 minutes. It must show this life and then the next, and how the law of karma works. The next life can be in any body - fish, bird, plant, insect, reptile, animal or human (or even one living on the heavenly planets).

First, decide who is going to be A, B and C.

A: You will mime the human being in this life, doing something good or bad.

B. You will mime what happens in the next life (for that same soul).

C. You can direct and take other roles in the mime.

You have 5-7 minutes to write the mime, and then some of us we will have a chance to perform it!

Note: if you wish, you can even show the person (actor A) dying and going into the next body (actor B).
